

After The Game Office Games

While the Benihana Christmas episode is about to begin, I saw on my email that a surprise guest is coming to The Office for the hour-long post Super Bowl episode. Jack Black will be dropping by the Scranton branch of Dunder Mifflin and what the plot will concern is anyone's guess. Will he be bringing surprises of his own? Will we see a wedding, perhaps? Maybe an appearance Jan and her baby and a resolution to that plot line? What do my fellow watchers think? Sorry, D.

Many post big game episodes have done really well. Most also feature celebrity guests like "The One after the Super Bowl" episode of Friends featuring Julia Roberts. The brilliant series Alias (that was cancelled way too soon) had a memorable post game episode. Unfortunately, J.J. Abrams seemed to put the spy series starring Jennifer Garner on the back burner while making way for his new series Lost. There were also Simpsons post Super Bowl shots. Hopefully, the Dunder Mifflin crew can bring another great addition to the post Super Bowl hour.
