To Do

This seems a little strange to me, but the other day my husband suggested that I should put everything into my blog. Every to-do list, shopping list, etc. Anything I'm putting into my computer should be in my blog, he says. I'm a person who makes a lot of lists. I've even been known to make a list of the lists I need to make! It might sound dorky or anal, but it makes me feel better and more organized - I'm a busy person with a terrible memory, so any way I can feel a little closer to keeping my head above water when daily life becomes overwhelming is worth trying for me. And often I do so with So, upon the advice of my husband, a person whose lists. knowledge of everything seems to know no limits (and no, I'm not being sarcastic!), here goes - hope it doesn't bore you too much, but here is my To-do List for when Grandma has my kids for just under a week - an event I am anticipating so anxiously that it seems to have SLOWED the passage of time... We were going to take a trip to New York, but we declined it because of gas prices and in favor of getting things done around the house, sigh. Besides, I don't know how a woman who is 35 weeks pregnant would fare walking around such a big Such a shame, though, it's the LAST time we will be city! kidless for a long period of time because Grandma can't fit 4 kids into her car to take them all at the same time \Box

To Do While Kids Are Gone

RELAX! clean game closet organize kids room – clean out their toys, add toddler bed, create play room hook up hose clean out laundry basket o' junk clean out laundry basket o' junk clean out playpen wash baby's clothes – (now that we just found out we're having a boy intead of a girl, I have no boys' clothes to wash!) pack away Disney's clothes (now that we won't be needing them for the new baby!)

fix pipe in upstairs bathroom — and the light that got broken and flooded because of the pipe!